

المعهد العالي للاتصالات والملاحة

The Higher Institute of Telecommunication & Navigation
Transmission Department

Transmission Department Mission Statement

The Transmission Department of the Higher Institute of Telecommunication and Navigation strives to:

- Be recognized by the society at large as a proficient department offering quality technical training to train and develop the human intellect needed for meeting the fastest growing technological advances in the field of Telecommunications Technology and related areas.
- Offer qualitative Telecommunication Technology education and professional ethics following global standards through methods of training and learning with a practical orientation to prepare trainees for a successful career / Higher study.
- Respond to the ever-changing demands for trained technicians in the field of Telecommunications, Wireless Networking, and Fiber Optics.
- Provide faculty with means to develop their intellectual capacity through teaching, training, and interaction with society.